EXPORT

FOREWORD

There are many in this industry who believe that the export market will prove the salvation for the glut of used equipment which is expected to result after peacetime production once again gets under way.

These men look forward to making instant contact with former foreign coinmen, especially those who visited this country regularly, and sell them large numbers of the used machines which they expect will accumulate from the trade-ins that will result when new machines are being sold once again.

Trade-in prices are expected to remain high for about six months or so after peacetime production gets started. Some believe that many coinmen will turn in equipment to capture this higher price market and take credit, instead of immediate cash, toward the purchase of new machines when they will need them. In fact, some distributors have already offered operators such deals.

In short, from all the reasoning so far advanced, there are expected to be large stocks of used machines on hand at the average wholesaler within a few months after peacetime production gets under way again. To get rid of these machines they believe they will have to depend upon export to foreign markets. It is therefore well to review the possibilities that face this trade for future export.

CANADA

Closest of all the nations to which it is hoped large quantities of machines will be exported is the Dominion of Canada. Canada has been buying machines since importing restrictions were lifted in May, 1944. Canadians are expected to buy many more machines when prices come down to a more normal level.

Biggest Canadian demand is for music equipment. Next come slots, pinballs, consoles and arcade equipment, in that order. Canadians, tho, are mainly interested in new equipment. It is best for those who believe that they will export used machines in large quantity to Canada to temper this belief with the fact that new machines are what the Canadians really want.

ENGLAND

Next in importance is the English market. England is the largest importer of American coin operated machines. The average English coinman is eager to once again obtain machines from this country. Once import restrictions are lifted, and shipping space becomes available, he will probably buy many used machines.

In England, too, the great demand is for music equipment. Where formerly this country used very little music it has, during this war, become coin operated music conscious. This makes England the most promising market for export of new and used music equipment.

There is no doubt that because of duties and import costs generally, much used music equipment will be sold to the English market. Slots, as usual, will find England very much interested. Arcade equipment is sure to enjoy big sales. Pinballs are again expected to lead amusement equipment sales to this country.

Tho it seems that thousands of used machines will be sold to England, it is well to remember that these coinmen are very good buyers. They learned about equipment prior to, and during, the war. And by becoming closely and personally acquainted with American distributors and factories, have a keen knowledge of machines and values.

Machines will be manufactured in England, too. This time on a much larger scale than ever before. The coin machines industry in the British Isles has reached large proportions. They may not build with the dash and verve and novelty of Americans, but they do build well and solidly. Their manufacturers are today equipped to compete with this nation on certain types of machines.

"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

SOUTH AMERICA

Much has been written about the South American nations, and the fact that they have today accumulated a tremendous dollar balance which they are forced to hold in reserve for export and import trade with this nation. What the average coinman overlooks is the fact that the South American nations lack hard coinage. Therefore they cannot use much coin operated equipment.

Slowly but surely coin machines are beginning to creep into South America, but not on any startling scale. There has been some demand from Brazil, Argentina and a few other countries for coin machines.

Formerly the largest sales made to these countries were slots. These were usually syndicate-controlled by the country ordering them. Since then, tho, music and arcade equipment has been shipped down. But not enough to as yet consider South America a great market for used coin operated equipment.

The South American countries are open to future development. There is no doubt that enterprising salesmen will find South American business men interested. It may take a few years to develop this market but sales will surely result. Especially when hard coinage of the denominations required for coin machines come into being.

CENTRAL AMERICA

The Central American countries have never proved great coin machines users. With the exception of Mexico, Panama, and possibly one or two others, sales have proven very small. The belief is now tho that Mexico will develop into very good coin machines country. Panama, also, can use more equipment. Other Central American countries can also be expected to purchase equipment. Cuba and Puerto Rico are good users of music machines.

MIDDLE EAST

For a while, before the war, it seemed that the Middle East might become good coin machine sales country. Palestine and Egypt began to order machines in fair quantity. This naturally halted just before the war. There has been no report from the Middle Eastern nations as to further developments, but it is believed that they have prospered and that coin machines, too, will be exported to them.

EUROPE

The European continent is once again looked to as a good user of coin operated machines. It should be remembered that the first coin operated machines originated in Switzerland and Germany. These two countries developed coin operated merchandising to a fine art.

Many years ago the writer reported that when tobacco stores close in Switzerland they just pull down a front over their window which contains an entire series of coin operated venders from which the public purchase their cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, etc., after closing hours.

Here is also the home of the insurance-policy scale. For a small coin the scale user can receive his weight on a printed ticket, on which is also printed an insurance policy good for about a 24 hour period. Such scales are also common in England.

Germany is reported to be the home of the coin operated weighing scale. It is also reported to be the home of the first coin operated amusement devices. These machines were displayed at the annual Leipzig fairs in the old days. This nation also had its own coin machines magazine known as "Der Automat".

Both Switzerland and Germany, regardless of their pioneering in coin operated equipment, purchased machines from this country right after 1932. The market was small but steady. It was also found that many American amusement devices were being imitated in Germany, but without the dash that Americans built into them.

Austria, Italy, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and some of the Balkan nations were small importers of coin operated equipment. Finland, Denmark and Holland were much better buyers. These countries mostly purchased pin games and some arcade equipment. It is hoped, after the war, that these countries may become larger users of coin operated machines.

France was the claw machines nation. Here more diggers were sold than to any other country. These featured the famous French made novelties. They proved very profitable. Slots were not successful in France because of the 3 to 1 payoff which this nation allowed. Slots were held down because they were too much competition to the lotteries conducted by the Republic.

"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

The French are keen about arcades. They liked pinball. Almost every American coinman who visited Paris will remember Louis Berni's big arcade there. It is hoped that Mr. Berni's arcade will once again become the outstanding attraction that it always was. (His brothers, who are in this country, claim that it will.)

France also had its own monthly machines magazine. It was called, "La Revue de La Automatique". Capt. Rene Godin was its publisher. He visited this country many times and attended a few of the national conventions. It is hoped that Capt. Godin survived the war and will return to publishing again.

As far as Russia is concerned all purchases were made thru the Soviet purchasing commission located in New York. Prior to the war, very little was sold this nation. It is believed that some machines found their way into Russia from France and England and some of the other European countries. Perhaps the Russian of tomorrow will be more prone to listen to his music via automatic equipment. And will be able to invest some coin in amusement and merchandising machines.

PACIFIC

In the Pacific there were some attractive buyers. Australia and New Zealand proved to be very good coin machines country. In fact, some American coinmen opened offices in Sydney, Australia.

There are many arcades in both Australia and New Zealand. Phonos and other coin machines can be found in almost every city in very good numbers. These countries are sure to continue as good buyers of coin operated equipment after the war. In fact, from reports received, they are only waiting until they can once again start importing machines. Because of this it is expected that more machines than ever before will be shipped them.

China used coin machines for a long time in its larger cities. A great many of the stereoscopic type picture machines went over in the old days. In the post-war period it is hoped that China will prove to be one of the best customers of this industry.

The Hawaiian Islands and the Phillipines have always been good buyers of coin operated equipment.

The daily habits of the Hawaiians and Phillipines are very similar to the people of this country. In both these American island possessions almost every type of coin operated equipment can be found. There is no doubt that many more machines will be shipped to the islands when the war is over. (The Cash Box subscribers in Hawaii report that their music equipment is doing a marvelous job at present and that they eagerly look forward to new machines.)

CONCLUSION

Tho this is a very condensed review of the export markets, it is being written to help refreshen the minds of coinmen here as to the general possibilities after the war, as far as the used machines, which are expected to glut this market when peacetime production once again gets under way, are concerned.

It should be remembered that export requires the services of specialists to really become a business for any coin machines firm. It is a long time job. This business just doesn't develop overnight. It entails much patience as well as expense. It requires complete thought and effort on the part of anyone attempting to create an export division.

The Cash Box has already prepared (and set aside for the proper moment) a large mailing in 4 different languages to former buyers of coin operated machines all over the world. A list of over 10,000 such buyers has been preserved by The Cash Box. It is hoped that the majority of these firms are still alive.

Many stories have been written about the fact that salesmen will one day travel with as much speed and ease to Europe and Asia, as they formerly needed to travel between Chicago and New York. There is no doubt this is true. There is also no doubt that fares will be extremely reasonable. Pan American Airways has already published what they will charge for some long distance flights.

Perhaps in the post-war world, five or ten years after peace returns, there will be such salesmen employed by manufacturers in this industry. These men can develop much territory. They can probably bring a tremendous export market to this nation. Many of the manufacturers enjoyed marvelous export sales prior to the war. Therefore, development should not be too hard a task after peace has set in.

In general, coinmen will get rid of great quantities of used equipment all over the world. Some countries will use more, some less. There is no doubt that the statement that England alone could use all the new machines that would be manufactured here the first year after production gets under way, is true. But this time, it is hoped, the trade will spend more time to make possible a more fluid and more profitable sales market to these foreign countries.

RCA VICTOR DIGS DEEP INTO RECORD SITUATION

LETTER FROM J. L. HALLSTROM
MERCHANDISE MANAGER, PROMISES ACTION

NEW YORK—As a result of the campaign by The Cash Box for more equitable record distribution among operators, the recording companies have taken action, and are digging deeply into the cause, in an effort to remedy this unhealthy condition. Reproduced below is a letter received from Jack Hallstrom, Merchandise Manager of RCA Victor, which is a step in the right direction to eliminate the present harmful distribution practices of its distributors.

GENTLEMEN:

"In connection with our conversation over the telephone in reference to the availability of Victor and Bluebird records for the coin operator trade, I think that Victor's position can best be understood by considering our method of shipment of records to our distributors. Ever since there has been the tight situation as to availability of records, our policy in respect to our distributors has been one of strict allocation in order that each part of the country might have Victor and Bluebird records on a completely equitable basis, in respect both to past and to current market requirements.

It has been our explicit recommendation to our distributors that they handle the customers which they have, both coin operators and dealers, on a similar basis.

There is no doubt in our mind that there are many coin operators who are not obtaining all of the records which they require. The same applies to dealers whose increased requirements against reduced availability overall have created a considerable amount of unhappiness throughout the trade.

I can be entirely frank with you in saying that we have had many letters from coin operators, claiming that they were being discriminated against in favor of the dealers and we have had many letters from dealers claiming that the coin operators are getting the lion's share of the production and the dealers not enough.

In respect to the attitude of Victor toward the coin operator, I can only point out that we recognize the coin operator industry as a customer of primary importance and we would be very much concerned to have this vital part of our business not receiving its just share of the available records.

Our policy, as you know, has been one of actively promoting the demand for Victor and Bluebird records with the coin operator trade. We have spent considerable sums of money in both advertising and promotion in order to reach this extremely important part of our market. There is absolutely no reason to believe that Victor's policy is not any different than it was before. As far as the distributor activities are concerned, we feel that there is no inclination away from the coin operator since our distributors recognize with us the extent to which they depend upon sales to the operators.

In these difficult days, however, it is quite possible that from time to time, due to the help shortages, new and inexperienced personnel, that some dislocations can develop. I am happy to say that we have anticipated your own worthy interest in the coin operator by having requested from our Regional Offices a complete report as to the percentage of popular records being currently sold to the coin operators as against the percentage of sales to operators before the war. Upon receipt of these figures, which will be 100% factual, we will be in a position to substantiate our claim that the operators are getting a just share of the records. If it is apparent that they are not in certain instances, we will have the facts on which to make recommendations that the situation be brought into line.

As we discussed over the telephone, Victor is fully aware of the tremendous promotional force exerted by the entire coin operator industry in behalf of records sales generally. We value this and wish to do everything within our power to see that it continues unhampered by any capricious or arbitrary limitations on the just share to which these customers are entitled.

I very much enjoyed our pleasant chat over the telephone and wish to express to you our appreciation as a manufacturer for the constructive efforts which you are exerting in behalf of the coin operator industry at large."

NEW YORK CITY CURFEW EXTENDED TO 1 A.M.

OTHER CITIES CLAIM "FAVORITISM"

NEW YORK CITY — Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, acting on his own initiative, extended the midnight curfew one hour, and fixed a new closing at 1 A.M. effective Sunday, March 18. The new "amendment" to the original midnight closing came as a surprise to all and the amusement centers, bars and grills, restaurants, and night clubs expressed their appreciation.

La Guardia claims that the early closing had created a traffic snarl, that it had resulted in rapid drinking, that it developed a trend toward unlawful sale of liquor, and that the extra hour would give his police force the opportunity to catch up with violators. The midnight hour was too rigid for a city like New York, the Mayor explained, adding that unless adjustments were made, the curfew would defeat its very own purpose.

The extension brought criticism from every part of the country, particularly from other large cities, who claimed "favoritism", but as we go to press no other city has changed its midnight rule, and La Guardia has stood by his guns for the 1 A.M. closing.

Since the inauguration of the midnight curfew, New York music machine operators had reported an average drop of about 20%, Lee Rubinow, President of the Automatic Music Operators Assn. of this city, estimates that the extra hour, plus the changing habits of the amusement seeker over a period of time, will cut the loss of play down to about 10%.

Arcades on the main stem, prior to the curfew, had remained open 24 hours a day. The play reached its heights with the emptying of the theatres and picture shows. The added hour will help out immensely.

Considerable confusion was caused by the Service commands in this area, who ordered all service men out of all places of amusement by midnight, and placed Shore Patrols and Military Police to see that the order was carried out. Most of the arcades and bars and grills in the theatrical section continued to close at midnight as they could not see their way clear to request service men to leave, and still keep on serving civilians. Outlying bars and grills took advantage of the hour extension. Until conditions smoothen out, this procedure will probably continue.

POPULATION SHIFTS TO PACIFIC AND SOUTH

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Bureau of the Census reports that the shift of population in the United States is away from the Atlantic Seaboard and Northern States, generally toward the South and Far West.

The bureau's figures indicate that the population of the South and West increased by nearly 4,000,000 between 1940 and 1944, while the population of the North fell by almost 3,000,000. The Northeastern States lost 1,600,000 between the 1940 census and 1944, while the number of people in the North Central division of the country fell off 1,300,000.

The West showed the greatest influx, 2,500,000 persons, and the South showed an increase of 1,400,000.

Four States, Arizona, California, Florida and Nevada, and the District of Columbia showed increases of more than 20% in the period between 1940 and 1944. During the last year Nevada, Idaho, California, Virginia and Rhode Island as well as the District of Columbia had increases of more than 3%.

Of the States which lost in population, North Dakota had the greatest relative decrease 17.7%.

Of the nine geographic divisions of the Country, the South Atlantic, the West South Central, the Mountain and the Pacific made gains in population between 1940 and 1944, but only two, the South Atlantic and the Pacific, continued this increase last year.

Look To The GENERAL For LEADERSHIP

"LEARNED FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE"

The men whose job it is to write and broadcast the happenings of the day know the value of having a reliable source at their finger-tips.

When operators throughout the country want first-hand information on what's taking place in the coin machine industry, they look to the GENERAL — a source that's proven its reliability to their complete satisfaction for 20 years.

THE CONFIDENTIAL PRICE LISTS

AN EXCLUSIVE MERCHANDISING SERVICE FOR THE COIN MACHINES INDUSTRY ISSUED
EVERY WEEK BY: THE CASH BOX, 381 FOURTH AVENUE, NEW YORK 16, N. Y.

FOREWORD

Many times, wide differences appear in the high and low prices of certain equipment. Like any true reporter The Confidential Price Lists can only feature the market prices as they are quoted. The Confidential Price Lists act exactly the same as the market quotation board at the Stock Exchange—posting the prices exactly as they are quoted for the past week, regardless of how much they may seem to be out of line. Some machine prices do not change for months. The Confidential Price Lists, rather than show no price, retain the last known quotations for such equipment so that the subscriber at least has the last known quoted prices as a basis to work with. Prices continue to be very widely divergent these days. Someone on the West Coast may feel a certain machine worth $150.00 whereas someone on the East Coast may think it worth but $75.00. Of course, condition, serial, appearance, demand, territory, quantity, etc., must all be taken into consideration. The Confidential Price Lists report each quotation exactly as it is made and depend on the subscriber to make average price adjustment to fit the peculiarities of his own territory.

METHOD

The Confidential Price Lists are to be read as follows: First price listed is lowest price for the week; Second price listed is highest price for the past week. Where only one price appears this should be considered lowest price.

CODE

CHECK THIS CODE CAREFULLY. BECOME ACQUAINTED WITH EACH ONE OF THE CODE NUMBERS AND WHAT THEY SIGNIFY. THESE CODE NUMBERS APPEAR IN FRONT OF THE NAME OF EACH MACHINE.

1. MEANS PRICE WENT UP.
2. MEANS PRICE WENT DOWN.
3. MEANS MACHINE JUST ADDED TO LIST.
4. MEANS PRICES WENT UP AND DOWN
DURING THE PAST WEEK
5. MEANS PRICES REMAINED SAME AS IN
LAST PRICE LISTS.
6. MEANS NO PRICES QUOTED FOR
PAST TWO WEEKS
7. MEANS NO PRICES QUOTED FOR PAST THREE WEEKS
PAST FOUR WEEKS OR LONGER

IMPORTANT

Machines underlined mean these were most active in trading the past week.
